

Luxembourg Centre for Educational Studies

Programs and didactic materials have a direct impact on teaching quality. Their modernization is one of the important challenges of the coming years. Most of the didactic materials used in Luxemburgish Schools is produced in foreign publishing houses. In rare cases, the content is adapted to the specific national situation. This way of proceeding is very costly and not always satisfying. In this context, it has been decided to set up the "Luxembourg Centre for Educational Studies", which will create a publishing house in charge of developing didactic materials. This new center will accompany schools in the changing processes in collaboration with the Luxembourg Centre for Educational Testing (LUCET), in charge of monitoring.
